

The Health Equity Corner

Women's History Month Edition

S (C'y kj 'F t0MkVcpk'Ngo kgwz

KiTani Lemieux, PhD

African American women remain visible to the world so that Black and Brown girls recognize the possibilities that life has to offer. There are no limits!

Q: Who are some women that inspire you, and why?

A: Dr. Prncilla Smart Evans and Dr. Deena Kegler-Ebo are scientists who look like me and were leaders in their respective fields. They were also wives, mothers, and servant leaders in their communities. They demonstrated that I did not have to choose, but I could experience all that life had to offer.

Q: The Center works to mitigate health disparities within minority communities. How does your research evaluating genes³

