

and working to make sure that everyone of all races, genders, and backgrounds can find their “While every discipline has key fundamentals students must master, the speed at which technology is said Dr. Anne

examples and experiences Aaron brings to our computer science department and the value of those

While Google has made strides in improving the diversity of early pipeline talent this year, its summer internship program welcomed the largest-ever cohort from underrepresented backgrounds, with 49 inx and/or women continue to be critical to making the tech industry more diverse.